WATERFRONT IS NOT LAKE ACCESS

Lakefront means the lot touches the water. Lake access means you share a ramp, beach or dock with the neighborhood. Both can be great. They are not priced or used the same way. Some neighborhoods have both. I sorted each one by what most of its homes are. Tap a line to jump to it.

03 Ask before you buy — 10 questions

04 Your next step — Free, no pressure

The rule. Before you fall for a house, confirm what the access really is, in writing. A listing photo of the lake does not tell you whether you can park a boat there.

Prices are the median figures shown on the Palmetto Park team site in Oct 2026 and change as homes list and sell. Neighborhoods with one or two listings are a rough guide only. Always confirm access with the HOA and in writing. This guide is general information, not legal, tax or lending advice. New neighborhoods are added over time, and the link you got stays the same.

BEFORE YOU MAKE AN OFFER

03 ASK BEFORE YOU BUY

Bring this page to every tour. Write the answers down.

1. Is the access deeded?
   Ask to see where it is written down, and whether it passes to the next owner.
2. Is there a slip, and who owns it?
   Deep-water slip, leased slip or none? Ask for the cost and the waiting list.
3. What are the HOA dues and ramp or dock fees?
   Ask for the budget, the rules and any special assessments.
4. What does the dock permit cover?
   Confirm the permit exists, is current and transfers. The lake operator controls shoreline permits.
5. How deep is the water at the dock?
   Lake levels move. Ask how the dock sits at low water.
6. What is the flood zone and insurance cost?
   Get a flood and homeowners quote before you make an offer.
7. Who maintains the ramp, beach and shoreline?
   Ask what the HOA covers and what you pay for.
8. Can I park a boat trailer here?
   Check HOA rules on trailers, storage and guest use.
9. Is it a full-time or a weekend neighborhood?
   Visit on a weekday evening and a summer weekend.
10. What does the HOA say about short-term rentals?
    Rules differ. Read them before you plan around rental income.
